KEYNOTE ADDRESS:

BRIGHT KIDS WHO CAN'T KEEP UP

Dr. Ellen Braaten, Ph.D., Psychologist, researcher, television contributor and author

We live in a world where quick responding is considered an essential skill. This keynote address will provide the audience with an overview of processing speed, as well as its relationship to today's quick-paced lifestyles, classroom environments, and home lives. Dr. Ellen Braaten, Ph.D., will discuss how it manifests in classrooms and social relationships, and what professionals and parents can do to accommodate and help their students overcome it.
